

South Africa promotes trade ties with Jamaica

The South African High Commission is seeking to promote stronger business linkages between Jamaican entities and those in South Africa with an exhibition which coincides with the country's 16th year of freedom from the apartheid regime.

Hosted in collaboration with the Gauteng Economic Development Agency of South Africa, the Jamaica Chamber of Commerce and Jamaica Trade and Invest, the trade exhibition will run from today till Thursday at The Jamaica Pegasus.

Twenty companies from South Africa will represent the clothing, art and craft, beverages, jewellery, ceramics, hair and skin products, household and office products industries, among others.

There will also be a mini fun day today. South Africa Week closes with a cocktail reception at the Pegasus on Thursday evening.
